

02-Aug-22

RoHS3 Directive 2011/65/EU, as amended by Directive (EU) 2015/863

Stearns Division (A Regal Rexnord Brand) believes that, as defined in section Article 2 (4) and Article 3 (3) and (4), Directive 2011/65/EU does not require its products to be certified as RoHS3. However, the products listed below do comply with the directive commonly referred to "RoHS3". The products below have been evaluated by Stearns and determined to contain less than the maximum concentration values or none of the restricted substances by weight in homogenous materials permitted under the RoHS3 Directive, including:

Chemical	RoHS3 Max Concentration Levels
Cadmium (Cd)	0.01%
Lead (Pb)	0.1%
Polybrominated Biphenyls (PBB)	0.1%
Bis (2-ethylhexyl) phthalate (DEHP)	0.1%
Dibutyl phthalate (DBP)	0.1%
Mercury (Hg)	0.1%
Hexavalent Chromium (Cr6+)	0.1%
Polybrominated Diphenyl Ethers (PBDE)	0.1%
Butyl benzyl phthalate (BBP)	0.1%
Diisobutyl phthalate (DIBP)	0.1%

Products:

- Solenoid Actuated Brakes (SABs)
 - Consult factory for brakes with brass or bronze stationary discs
- All Armature Actuated Brakes (AABs)
- All SINPAC Solid State Switches
- All Super - Mod Electrically Energized Clutch/Brake Module

This statement is provided for informational purposes only and is not intended to create legal obligations between Stearns and external parties. Stearns believes the information above to be true and accurate as of the date of this statement. Stearns also believes related statements in published Stearns compliance-related documentation, including but not limited to any material composition data, MSDS, laboratory and testing reports, to be valid and accurate as at the date of this statement, but makes no representation to the completeness or accuracy of information provided herein to the extent such information is provided by Stearns third party suppliers.

A handwritten signature in purple ink, appearing to read 'Kishan Nadigera', written over a light-colored background.

Kishan Nadigera
Materials Compliance Manager
Regal Rexnord Corporation
Kishan.Nadigera@regalrexnord.com